South Bay Bars Will Close Oct. 8

As the result of a special meeting of the South Bay Council Tuesday night, the city of South Bay will go along with the state election laws and keep the bars closed on late Saturday night.

Letters from the South Bay attorney and County Solicitor's office advised that a previous council motion to allow bars to operate was in conflict with city and state regulations.

Attorney Claude J. Told Charles Nugent Friday that the city's charter was in conflict with the motion. Solicitor Nugent made an investigation of the situation following two complaints he received.

The sale of alcoholic beverages on an election day is a misdemeanor punishable by fine or jail. Buying a drink for a voter is also illegal.

On a motion by S. J. Fisher, seconded by W. L. Wheeler, the council unanimously agreed to void Wheeler's original motion to operate the bars.

Nearly 300 are expected to vote in the municipal election Tuesday. Over 80 Negroes and more than 35 white qualified voters have registered since the August 6 referendum on city service. At that time 234 votes were cast.

Liquor Raids Here Nets Four Youths

Law enforcement officers from all over Palm Beach County participated in a raid of five night clubs in the Belle Glade-Pahokee area late Saturday night for the purpose of apprehending juveniles who were suspected of having been served alcoholic beverages at one or more of the spots.

Three separate department agents, two air-policemen from Palm Beach Air Force Base, two deputy sheriffs and Assistant Juvenile Counselor Gene Duncan began their systematic surprise visits at about 10 p. m.

Duncan said only four juveniles were found in one club; however, there was no evidence to support the fact that they might have been drinking.

The raids were first planned six months ago and were finally set Sept. 24 by Duncan; however, "unusual" conditions existed at the time of the raids.

Each of the clubs were abnormally quiet, the lawmen said. Duncan warned that all youths under 18 years found in a bar without their parents will mean that their parents will be placed on unofficial probation since youths are not permitted even to enter such places where liquor is served according to state laws.

In view of the exceptionally quiet Saturday night affairs found in the several places, one source hinted that there had been a tip-off about the raids.

Golden Rams Win First Of Season Down Raiders 13-0

By Jack McCaskill

The Belle Glade Golden Rams won their first game in three starts at Memorial Field Thursday night as they blanked the Central Catholic Raiders 13-0.

A light crowd turned out to watch Coach Jim Murray's gridmen keep the visitors from Fort Lauderdale safely away from pay dirt. Frequent fumbles, a wet field and a number of penalties figured strongly in the one-sided score.

With six minutes gone in the first quarter Phil Grant crossed the goal line from 21 yards out and Jack Hamilton added the point-after-touchdown by cracking over center.

Barely three minutes later after an exchange of the ball, Grant went over for the second score after a 19-yard run. The extra point attempt failed.

Central Catholic threatened throughout the remainder of the game, but the Rams held them off.

Enrollment Of Schools About Normal This Week

There is little documentary evidence to support reports that school absences during the past week were attributed to flu attacks; however, absences of one or three days are still being reported among the lake.

At Pahokee where well over 100 students were absent last week, a great deal of work was made up.

Pahokee high school reported 12 students out, the elementary school said absences were about normal while East Lake School said 50 students were out during the week, but many have returned.

At both Belle Glade high schools, where more than 100 students were absent last week, officials believe attendance is about normal. At Belle Glade Elementary about 40 students were absent.

absent which is a little above normal. Occasional center reports no absences of any long duration.

County VA Officer Makes Last Official Visit Here

Representatives of veterans' organizations in South Bay and Belle Glade attended a meeting with the Palm Beach County Veterans Service Committee.

Leroy A. Tanner at the Glades VA service office here Wednesday night.

W. C. Allen, E. C. Mapp and A. J. F. Tanner, all of the Glades VA service office, were present.

Tanner's last visit before his term expires. He commended the veterans' service of the city for his good job done.

McClendon also announced the recovery of the title through his two officers for the past quarter-year amounted to $48,882.21.

A breakdown of this figure showed disability payments (service connected) of $1,555.14; (non-service connected) $16,471.25; insurance $1,542. PF 550 training $24,701.75; death compensation $4,358.30; burial $829; and miscellaneous $131.67.

The regular fall meeting of the full veterans committee met Oct. 3 at the small claims court, Fort Lauderdale, where officers for the coming year were installed.

Avenue E Plans Are Completed

Preliminary plans for rebuilding and four-laning Avenue E from East Palm Beach Road to SR 715 have been completed and abstracting will begin immediately according to an announcement late Thursday afternoon by County Commissioner Kenneth Foster.

Foster said appraisers will be appointed to evaluate property in the right-of-way which will involve properties owned by about one hundred people.

The rights-of-way should be secured by March or April and contracts should be let immediately for actual construction. Water and sewerage construction by the city will not conflict with improvements in the $315,000 street program, and in all probability the work will be completed before four-laning work begins.

FFA Chapter Will Help With Fire-Safety Week

The Belle Glade Future Farmers of America will participate in National Fire and Safety Week by showing and giving out fire extinguishers.

This extinguisher is ideal for fires in homes, schools, service stations and is the only one of its size bearing the Underwriters' laboratory label of approval.

It is especially designed for fires of oil, grease, fuels or electrical origin. Fire Chief E. Will has approved the chapter doing the demonstration and has endorsed the extinguisher.

It is part of the chapter's effort to cooperate with Belle Glade Fire Dept., in creating fire prevention and safety campaigns throughout the year.

Boat-A-Cade Warm-up Parade and Water Show Planned

Two Important Field Days Coming Soon For South Florida Cattlemen

Swimming Pools Might Be Finished By Nov. 1 Building Inspector Says

Belle Glade's new swimming pools should be completed by November 1st according to Building Inspector W. L. Cunningham who said the pools are about 70% completed to date.

Cunningham noted that all difficulties encountered among the city officials, builders and architects have been ironed out and work is progressing smoothly.

The piping for the water supply and drain fields was expected to be finished by the end of this week and next week the aprons to both pools should be poured. Also, final tests on the water pipelines were made this week.

Workmen should be ready to tile the marlsite, a marble-chipped plaster, finishes soon, he said.

Two forthcoming cattle field days scheduled by experiment stations will provide vital information to cattlemen of South Florida according to advance releases of the two programs.

October 6-12 has been designated Fire Prevention Week around the nation. Therefore, this week we have asked Belle Glade Fire Chief L. E. Will to describe the equipment and methods used by the city department.

Belle Glade's loss ratio due to fire has steadily decreased. In fact, the incidents of fire at all have been few and far between during the past few months. The remainder of this article was written especially for The Herald's Chief Will.

Most of our local taxpayers know that the city has some shiny red firetrucks, but as to what is comprised in the Fire Department, they are somewhat hazy. A brief summary may be informative.

The apparatus consists of three trucks (professionally known as "pumpers") and one pickup. The largest and oldest of these pumpers, a 1937 Peter Fitch, is capable of pumping 750 gallons per minute and sucking three 2 1/2 inch hose lines. It carries the long ladder, the deluge gun and the light plant.

The other pumpers are of 500 gpm. capacity. Each carries 1000 ft. or more of 1 1/2 inch or 2 1/2 inch hose. Each has 1 1/2 inch and reels of rubber one inch booster lines. Of great advantage in quickly extinguishing small fires and in making initial attack on large ones, is the new 500 gpm. triple combination Howe pump on a Ford chassis, purchased in 1956.

This pump, besides carrying all standard equipment, also has a tank of 500 gallons of water to which two hose lines are connected. Upon arriving at a fire, one or both of the lines can be advanced and charged with water at once. In addition, a third small line or two 2 1/2 inch line may be supplied from the same pump if necessary. Meanwhile, a second pump may lay a supply line from this truck to the nearest hydrant and pump water to the house.

Belle Glade was among the first to realize the advantages of the use of water fog instead of solid streams for fighting interior fires. By this method, the water, being broken into droplets, absorbs more heat, and less is wasted to cause unnecessary damage.

All the trucks are equipped with an ample number of fog nozzles as well as of the conventional straight-tip nozzles used for long reach. A "jumbo" nozzle or deluge gun, recently acquired, is capable of delivering 500 gpm. on a big fire. It is supplied by three hose lines and is furnished with both a fog and a straight tip. It has proved its effectiveness several times when conditions permitted its use.

Each truck is equipped with standard 24-foot extension and 10-foot roof ladders. In addition, an aluminum 36-foot ladder is carried on the Pirsch. Two short, folding "attic ladders" are convenient in confined quarters.

Special equipment includes such items as a portable light plant, a smoke ejector, a variety of forcible-entry tools and two pieces of self contained breathing apparatus to be used in dense smoke or poisonous gas, where the ordinary filter type mask would be ineffective.

For the protection of the firefighters, a supply of protective clothing, helmets, boots and "bunker" coats, for protection as much from heat as from water, are carried on the trucks. Borrowing from Miami's fire department, the smoke masks are worn attached to the coats, to be instantly available when needed.

Bair, and under the general supervision of Lawrence E. Wain, part-paid chief, normally consists of six pump operators in addition to a dozen volunteers.

The regular men work 24 hours on duty and 48 hours off. Routine duty of cleaning station and equipment, checking apparatus and charging extinguishers, occupies part of each day. Frequent practice is necessary in operating pumps and particularly in "drafting" or pumping from a canal. A glance at the array of dials, valves and gauges on the operator's panel should convince the uninitiated that operating a fire pump is not simply a matter of turning a handle on a hydrant.

The upper floor of the fire station is occupied by a dormitory and a kitchen and recreation room. The latter contains considerable athletic equipment bought by firemen and policemen individually. The kitchen was furnished by ladies of the auxiliary.

Pharmacy Week Is
October 6 - 12

During National Pharmacy Week Oct. 6-12, pharmacists will devote one week to publicize their profession of pharmacy. With great pride they point out that the practice of pharmacy has been recorded by historians for more than 5,000 years.

It is interesting to compare modern prescriptions compounded in Belle Glade pharmacies with the medicines used in the not too distant past. About half of the ingredients in today's prescriptions were unknown less than five years ago.

More than 500 new medicines are introduced each year. Some of these new mixtures can be depended upon to always give a definite action. Therefore more prescriptions now consist of just one ingredient instead of the old time "shot-gun" mixtures of many different drugs, taken with the hope that one of them might possibly help.

Pharmacists in this city now must have a great deal more knowledge than in the past. Many of the new drugs require specialized information about their dosage, storage and compounding. That is why colleges of pharmacy that now require only four years of study to secure a pharmacy degree have announced that their requirements will soon be increased to five years.

Pharmacists must have sufficient knowledge to be able to answer pertinent questions of physicians about the new drugs. During National Pharmacy Week all pharmacists in Belle Glade will welcome questions about pharmacy, particularly from young people who would like information about a career in pharmacy.

JOB AND WORKER

It is the time for every employer to review his labor needs in light of a realistic appraisal of the requirements of the job itself, not in light of what the employer believes to be the ideal employee. Increased production and expansion of business and industry depends upon personnel and personnel alone. An employer's business can expand if his production increases. His production can increase if he will hire the ability and not the disability when he needs his new employees.

Juveniles Caught While Drinking Still Face County Jail Dues Says

Nearly two months ago Assistant Juvenile Counselor Gene Duncan issued a stern warning that any juveniles caught drinking would be placed in the county jail pending their hearings. This week Duncan said he had received several complaints from parents about the practice; however, he reiterated his statement that a "get rough" policy was needed to curb delinquency about juveniles drinking alcoholic beverages.

Since the original order, 16-year-olds have been placed in jail. Duncan promised more would be in the jail if they didn't stop drinking.

"People have told me," Duncan related, "that they thought the idea of putting the youngsters in jail was a good one until their children are caught drinking."

There will be no change in the order, he said.

From where I'm sittin', by Joe Marsh

Whip Training

Comin' into town the other day I stopped to watch some youngsters breaking a colt to a saddle. They were real gentle, taking to him all the while he rubbed his back and holdin' the saddle against his side so he got used to it.

As I was watching I thought about another colt I'd seen being whipped. A long rope on the halter and a "skinner" whip. When the colt ran away from the trainer he got cut with the whip. The colt learned, through fear, that he had to stand still all the time.

From where I'm sittin' these two ways to hold people in, I too. There's the gentle way which requires patience and understanding. The other way is "whip training," by making the horse and forcing people to obey.

Now it so happens that I enjoy a lousy glass of ale or beer with my dinner. I feel as though I'm being "whip trained" when someone tries to pass a law to deprive me of that little pleasure.

The 4th Annual Florida Vegetable Research Conference closed its two day meeting in Orlando Sept. 26 with the expressed feeling that "the relationship between the producers and the experiment station has become closer and much has been accomplished in the extremely successful meeting."

The meeting was sponsored by Florida Agricultural Experiment Station and the Florida Fruit & Vegetable Association in cooperation with the Agricultural Experiment Station and the Extension Service of the University of Florida.

SPORTS BEAT

By George S. McKay

If you are a lover of Aesop's Fables then let me bend your ear with a dilly-dilly once upon a time there were even little Carver High Eagles who had undergone the rigors of conditioning and training for their opening game with (Doomart) Key West. Then came the big night, last Thursday, when the Eagles strutted out on the field resplendent in their spotless uniforms. Incidentally, during the course of the game, the Eagles did everything possible to keep them that way.

Besides some very sloppy playing, the Eagles were very mannerly to Key West by seeing to it that the ball carrier was always left unprotected. Block! Tackle, was that a part of the game?

The vaunted Carver Eagles seemingly decided to give Carver High a cleaning bill by keeping their suits clean for their second game. Key West helped the Eagles round out the fiasco by smearing the ball-carrier every time. Whenever the Carver back started to run by his interference formed immediately and then proceeded to dodge the Key West tacklers along with the ball carrier.

This was not the type of football the Carver fans expected to see. I am curious to know just what thoughts were running thru Coach Pompey's head while watching his charges blunder thru their easiest game of their schedule.

Young football powers among the Class B Schools are expected to see, I am curious to know just what thoughts were running thru Coach Pompey's head while watching his charges blunder thru their easiest game of their schedule.

Dania and Gifford will pull at least four major unsets before the football season ends.

Cause Unknown FBI Ruling

Federal Bureau of Investigation chemical analyses on outcrop samples of Edna Smith, Belle Glade, Negro woman who died mysteriously at a bar on SW 5th St. Sept. 9, have been reported negative to county inquest.

In a letter-report to special investigator G. W. Greer, Jr., laboratory reports said sample tests permitted only preliminary tests for the more common poisons. Actual cause of the woman's death is still unknown; however, causes are now presumed to be normal.

The tests were ordered after one Belle Glade doctor declined to state the cause of death because of the fact that the woman, only 31, showed no signs of being ill prior to her death. Because of medical and technical reasons, the doctor refused to believe she had been a heart attack victim.

Girl Faces Drinking Charge After Wreck Friday on SR 15 Here

Samuel Smith, Belle Glade Negro, was charged with driving while intoxicated Friday night by FHP Trooper R. G. Russell after Smith attempted to pass another vehicle on SR 15 at "Dead Man's Curve" while traveling south at a high rate of speed.

Trooper Russell said the Smith vehicle left the road and continued out of control down a ditch, crashed into a tree, and was stopped several feet on the south side of the access road while still in the ditch.

Two other men in the car were not injured; however, a 14-year-old girl was admitted to the hospital for treatment. Assistant Juvenile Counselor Gene Duncan said Monday that the girl would be taken into custody following her release from the hospital and placed in a foster home.

The other occupants of the car were not charged, Russell said. The driver of the car which Smith was attempting to pass at the time his car left the road estimated the Smith vehicle was traveling at least 80 mph.

Somebody Was Trying To Swipe Charley's Iron From City Jail

Foster Robinson, Belle Glade Negro, had served 34 days in Belle Glade jail on Sept. 30 when he paid out his fine and was preparing to be released. He had been residing in the jail in lieu of fines levied against him for being drunk and possessing a squeezer, which strange home-made alcoholic beverage.

Police Chief Charles Goodlett said the man appeared anxious to leave — as is usually the case as soon as possible. The chief decided to check Robinson's belongings before he was released.

Goodlett discovered Robinson had an electric iron in his belongings. The chief probably took note of Robinson's desire to be well-groomed; however, he realized that the iron belonged to the jail, not Robinson.

The city extended their hospitality by asking Robinson for $50 and costs or 55 days more following his hearing in municipal court Monday night.

County TB Association Holds Meeting Monday

The county-wide TB committee met Monday night at the association's office at West Palm Beach where seven committees and eight organizations were represented.

Mrs. Ruth Sheppard also gave remarks on the latest TB statistics in the county and stressed the urgent need for blood donors.

Officers elected were Stanley Murrell, county chairman; Mrs. Sallie Hamilton, county secretary; Mrs. Helen Potter, assistant secretary. Meetings are held on the last Monday of each month and the public is invited.
